

SUSPECT IS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Louis L. Jackson Given Hearing on Charge of Murdering Operator at Scottsville.

TWELVE WITNESSES HEARD

Court Finds No Strong Evidence of Guilt, but Enough Suspicion to Hold Him.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Scottsville, Va., September 18.—Louis L. Jackson, who has been detained for some time on suspicion of being the murderer of Richard W. Harrison, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway telegraph operator at this place, following a preliminary hearing this afternoon before Mayor Jackson Beal, Commonwealth's Attorney R. T. W. Duke and Justice of the Peace Frank G. Dawson, was held for the grand jury, the decision of the court being that while there was no strong evidence of his guilt, there was sufficient suspicion to send him on.

Jackson arrived in Scottsville last night from Richmond, in custody of Special Officer N. L. Angle, he having been sent to the Henrico County Jail, where he was held for the night, after the murder of Harrison, which occurred during the latter part of August. After the hearing to-day, there was absolutely no excitement, and the prisoner was locked up in the town jail for the night, and to-morrow will be taken to the county jail in Charlottesville.

No Direct Evidence.
At the hearing this afternoon, there were ten or twelve witnesses examined. The majority of them knew very little of the case, and only testified to having seen Jackson at Warren on Sunday morning after the murder, when he told them that the operator at Scottsville had killed himself. In the attempt to prove an alibi, Miss Grace Carroll, a young woman friend of Jackson, stated that on the Sunday morning of the murder, between the hours of 12 and 4 o'clock, she looked out of her window during a storm, and by a flash of lightning saw Jackson standing on the platform at the Warren depot apparently asleep.

Jackson made a statement in his own behalf, which conflicted in some portions with the evidence given by several witnesses, and this, it was probably the most damaging thing against him. He stated that he spent the night in Warren, while a witness said Jackson told him he spent the night in Howardsville. Jackson also stated that he was told of the murder after 4 o'clock, but several witnesses stated that Jackson told them of the murder long before that hour. He seemed very composed during the hearing, but when cross-examined by Justice Duke was somewhat nervous. Patterson & Patterson defended Jackson.

"The Leopard's Spots."
Among the sensational successes of the past season were fair plays, unworldly plays and so-called problem plays. The present season bids fair to include the usual number of all these, and with them the first dramatization of a famous novel that has been made in several seasons.

Thomas Dixon's greatest novel, "The Leopard's Spots," has been dramatized by its author, and under his personal direction, will be presented at the Academy of Music to-day, matinee and night.

Five hundred thousand copies of the book have been sold, and the sale is still enormous, and the play is expected to arouse unusual interest.

He was remanded for sentence until October 2, so that the Secret Service officials may have an opportunity to investigate the counterfeiting scheme and the police to inquire further into his relations with the pseudo-priest.

Lynchburg, Va., September 18.—Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Watts, of Bedford City, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mae Frances Spencer, to William Spradling, also of Bedford City, which is to take place there September 29.

HAND WOULD CRACK AND BLEED

Tetter So Bad Could Hardly Do Anything. Clear White Blisters Would Burst and Peel Off. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Hands Well.

R. F. D. No. 1, Critz, Va.—"I had tetter on my hands so badly that I could hardly do anything. It would begin to come in clear white blisters, then they would burst and peel off all over and crack and bleed. My hands were so sore and itched so badly I could not rest day or night. I could not put them in water nor do my regular work. I tried medicine and several different kinds of cream on them but they got worse instead of better. Nothing did me any good until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. And now my hands are perfectly well and all right." (Signed) Miss Ellen Tudor, Nov. 19, 1912.

FACE ITCHED AND BURNED

514 7th St., Dayton, Ky.—"My little girl had a serious breaking out mostly on the face, arms and legs also feet. The breaking out was in the form of pimples which itched and burned her terribly. She would scratch until sores formed. I could not get anything to stop the itching and she was very restless and irritable and seemed to be in great torture. One day I came across the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I wrote for some. I kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time my child was cured." (Signed) Mrs. V. Foster, Oct. 7, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

THAW'S HEARING IN CANADA ADJOURNED

Writ of Habeas Corpus Comes Up, but He Is Not There to Prosecute It.

CONCORD IS VERY "CHESTY"

Mayor of Town Welcomes Him in Speech and Invites Him to Permanent Residence.

Montreal, September 18.—The adjourned hearing of Harry K. Thaw's Canadian habeas corpus writ was resumed to-day before the appeal division of the King's Bench Court, but owing to a dispute which occurred between the judges and the attorneys for the immigration officials, the hearing adjourned.

The attorneys for the immigration officials asked that the habeas corpus writ be quashed on the ground that the immigration act superseded the habeas corpus act. The court replied that if this contention were true the immigration authorities could have deported Thaw at any time, and the court would have no jurisdiction.

Proud to Get On Map.
Concord, September 18.—Mayor Chas. J. French, of Concord, today visited Harry K. Thaw at the Eagle Hotel and welcomed Thaw on behalf of the city. "We are proud to have you with us," said Mayor French, "and we hope your stay will be rendered pleasant."

Thaw, after the afternoon visit, accompanied by a deputy United States marshal and Sheriff Holman Drew, motored through the country, being carried by Concord and during the trip saw the home of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy. Thaw expressed an opinion that it would make a fine home.

Mayor French said to-night that if Thaw is granted his freedom an effort will be made to have the Mattewan fugitive purchase the Eddy mansion for a permanent residence.

Two cranks attempted to see Thaw to-day, and one of the men was taken to the station and put aboard a train for New York. The other was placed in jail, and will be arraigned to-morrow. The man who was deported said his name was Leslie Blinke, or Lake. Just before the train pulled out he put his head out of the car window and yelled:

"They must stop persecuting Thaw. Jerome will be shot soon."

"Oh, Well, We Can Wait."

Thaw received a disagreeable surprise to-day when he read dispatches from Washington stating that in the event of the Thaw case being carried before the United States Supreme Court several years might elapse before a decision could be obtained.

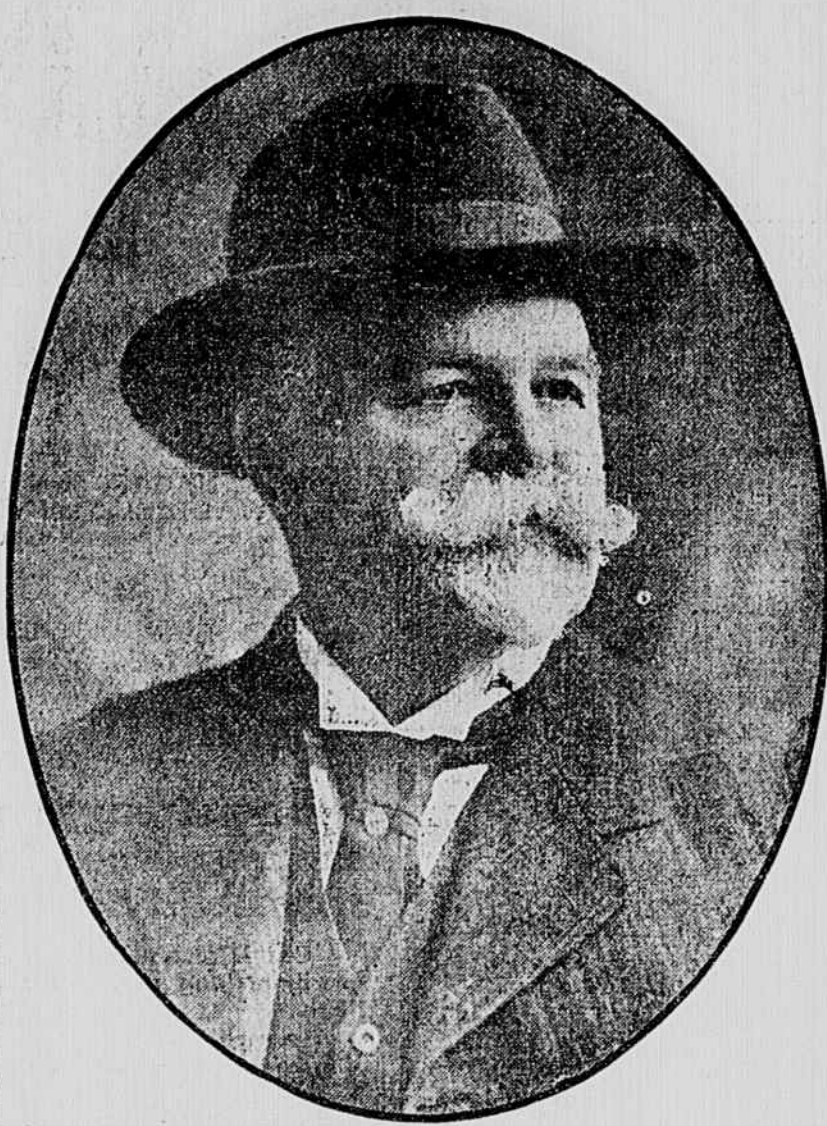

"Oh, well," said Harry when he finished reading the dispatches, "we can wait, but I certainly hope that Governor Feltner will decide not to sign the extradition warrant, so that I will not be forced to carry the fight through the Federal courts."

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY STUDENTS VOTE TO ABOLISH HAZING

Hampden-Sidney, Va., September 18.—At a meeting of Hampden-Sidney students body recently it was voted to abolish hazing. It has never existed here in other than a very mild form, but it has been decided that it is best to abolish it altogether.

The resolution was required to wear caps the color and pattern of which is in the hands of a committee of the upper classmen.

Honored by Virginia Veterans

COLONEL J. THOMPSON BROWN, of Richmond, newly elected Grand Commander of United Confederate Veterans of this State.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY U. C. V. GRAND CAMP

Colonel J. Thompson Brown, of Richmond, Is Chosen Grand Commander.

VETERANS SALUTE SPONSORS

Question of Closer Relations With Auxiliary Organization Made Special Order.

Roanoke, Va., September 18.—Colonel J. Thompson Brown, of Richmond, was elected grand commander of the United Confederate Veterans of Virginia at the twenty-sixth annual Grand Camp here to-day. Other officers elected were as follows:

Major Samuel Griffin, Bedford, first lieutenant grand commander; Major Thomas L. Tate, Pulaski, second lieutenant grand commander; Captain Thomas B. Elam, Roanoke, third lieutenant grand commander; Tipton D. Jennings, Lynchburg, inspector-general; David A. Brown, Jr., Richmond, quartermaster-general; Rev. John P. Hyde, D. D., Winchester, and the Rev. Everett Meade, D. D., of Fairfax, chaplains-general; Dr. John J. Terrell, Lynchburg, surgeon-general; General Joseph V. Bigdow, who succeeded himself as adjutant-general by appointment.

Division officers: General Seth Bolling, Petersburg, honorary major-general for life; General J. Thompson Brown, division commander.

There was no lack of enthusiasm at the second session to-day. The day began in gloom of unfavorable weather, and there was further darkening, rather than a brightening of the skies. Notwithstanding the adverse weather conditions, there was a large attendance of delegates and visitors at today's meeting at the Jefferson Theatre and the large calendar of business culminated in the election of officers which was disposed of with snap and dispatch.

A feature of the grand camp session was the introduction of sponsors and maids, who were heartily saluted by the veterans. Several of the young women were not in their places in each case absence was explained as the second roll was called.

Reports of committees, standing and special, were read and accepted with appropriate commendation, and the most important matter, that of closer relations between veterans and auxiliary organizations, was made the special order of business for 12 o'clock to-morrow, when a special committee and advisory committee will report their recommendations on the subject. These committees were in joint session at the Shenandoah Hotel this afternoon.

Following the adjournment of the grand camp, the division meeting was convened and the exhaustive report of the retiring commander was read. The election of officers was then taken up. General J. Thompson Brown was chosen grand commander.

While the matter of selecting a place for the next meeting often is left open for decision when grand camp meetings adjourn, it is not unlikely the contrary will characterize this reunion. Frederickburg and Newport News are waging a determined fight for the 1914 reunion, and it is very probable decision on that question will be had when that item of the official program is reached at the last matter to be considered before final adjournment Friday afternoon.

Comrade Boyd Smith, chairman of a committee appointed at the 1911 meeting to consider a resolution from Louisville, Va., looking to the establishment of closer relations between the veterans and sons' organizations, was busy to-day getting the report of his committee in shape. Its presentation was scheduled for to-day's meeting, but Mr. Smith asked that the entire subject be made a special order of business for Friday. McDonald Lee, of Irvington, is representing the sons of this committee.

It is understood a plan will be presented to the grand camp looking to an ultimate transfer to the sons, probably with the inclusion of the daughters, the business of the veterans as it affects the perpetuation of records, care of property and maintenance of ideals exemplified by the several organizations formed with the object of keeping intact the traditions and history of the Confederacy.

The first step recommended, it is understood, will be the admission of representatives of the Sons and probably the Daughters to the higher councils of the veterans.

Mr. Smith supplemented his request for a postponement of report with one for the appointment of an advisory committee to go over the recommendations before final submission to the Grand Camp.

Morning Session.
The doors of the Jefferson Theatre were thrown open promptly at 10 o'clock, and within ten minutes there was a good sprinkling of delegates and spectators in the auditorium.

The Roanoke Machine Works Band, which yesterday rendered such an excellent program of music, was in the orchestra pit, and immediately struck up a stirring march.

Adjutant-General Joseph V. Bigdow was among the first on the stage, gavel and record at hand, ready for formal opening of the second session of the Grand Camp. David A. Brown, quartermaster-general, was at his desk.

The announced plan to have sponsors and maids occupy places on the stage was abandoned because of the large attendance of officers. The women, therefore, had special seats.

New Brigadier-General.
Following the meeting of the Grand Camp to-day, a division meeting was held, and the following were made brigadier-general: First Brigade—Walter B. Freeman, Richmond; Second Brigade, M. W. Jewett, Ivanhoe; Third Brigade, R. D. Funkhouser, Maurertown; Fourth Brigade, James Bumgardner, Staunton. The Virginia Division, Sons of Veterans, elected the following officers: division commander, Garland P. Peed, Pickett-Buchanan Camp, Norfolk; commander First Brigade, J. F. Herndon, Portsmouth, re-elected; commander Second Brigade, W. J. Gill, Farmville, re-elected; commander Third Brigade, Samuel L. Adams, South Boston, re-elected; commander Fifth Brigade, H. M. Strickler, South Boston, re-elected. No choice was made for commander of Fourth Brigade, this being left to the division commander.

COURT CONVENES; GOVERNOR SULZER IS NOT PRESENT

Wagner appointed Senators Murtagh and Brown as a committee to escort the justices of the Court of Appeals into the chamber.

An imposing spectacle they made, in their trailing black robes, as they filed into the big room, whose few gaudy red hangings served only to accentuate its bleakness. The Senators, arranged in six ranks before the rostrum, rose as if by a common signal, and the spectators, confined to the narrow galleries and the corners of the floor, sprang to their feet hurriedly.

"The justices of the Court of Appeals," said Wagner, and the Senators stepped at low as cramped positions behind desks permitted.

Despite the fact that the chamber was crowded, every spectator could hear his neighbor's breathing when the presiding judge began to speak.

Court Is Opened.
"The Assembly of the State having presented articles of impeachment against William Sulzer, Governor of the State of New York, and in accordance with the law, has summoned the Senators of the State and the Judges of the Court of Appeals to convene at this time and place as a high court of impeachment."

There being nothing startling in this announcement, the Senators sat back and waited calmly again. They seemed disappointed.

Justice Cullen instructed Clerk McCabe to swear in the presiding judge, and the oath was administered to him and his associates.

All went merrily till Senator Frawley appeared bulking large in the middle distance. Then D. Cady Herlick, for Sulzer, hopped out of his seat and issued a challenge.

Parker and Herlick Stand Up.
Herlick announced that he was there for the purpose of making certain objections, and had a brief to that effect, which he would file. He asked further that Frawley, whom he challenged, stand aside until the other members of the court were sworn in, so that argument might be submitted. This request Justice Cullen denied, although he gave Herlick the right to make a protest later. Frawley was sworn, as were Wagner, the president of the Senate, and Senator and Hansperger, of the Frawley Committee.

Justice Cullen disposed of the matter of admitting the three designated judges by the statement that they were, and he called them to the seats. He asked any member who disagreed to stand up.

Judge Parker, for the prosecution, which was not especially pleased to see the court vote for conviction, instantly agreed, and Herlick, for the defense, followed suit.

"The managers of the Assembly," were then called.

"Mr. Clerk, call the Governor," said the justice.

But the Governor did not appear, and his lawyers declined to say anything other than that they were there to protest to the whole affair, and could take no part in it.

A few minutes before 1 o'clock, after the committee to draw the rules had been appointed, the crier sounded the opening of the court, and the members marched out.

Young Root Appears as Counsel.
The ranks of counsel for Governor Sulzer were increased to-day with the appearance of Elihu Root, ex. As had with the court, the Governor's attorneys of record are, in addition to Mr. Root, D. Cady Herlick, Irving G. Vann, Harvey D. Hinman, August G. Fox and James Gay Gordon. Counsel for the managers of the Assembly are Albert Parker, former judge of the Court of Appeals, John B. Stanchfield, Edgar T. Brackett, Eugene Lamb Richards, Isador J. Kressell, Hiram C. Todd and Henderson Peck.

The proceedings to-day were conducted with great solemnity. Each Senator, as he took the oath, standing in the center of the semicircular space between the Senators' desks and the dais, seemed to realize the unusual significance of the occasion. The remarks of counsel were couched in formal terms, and each bowed low as he arose to address the court. Spectators in the galleries watched the proceedings in silence. Among them were many women. In the police-patrolled corridors outside, hundreds of disappointed men and women clamored, threatened and pleaded for an opportunity to catch a glimpse of the history-making tribunal.

Garrison, who was in the Assembly chamber, was immediately halted before the bar of the House of Representatives to repudiate his alleged statement, and was remanded to the custody of the sergeant-at-arms, pending further action.

Although it was after midnight when Garrison was taken into custody, the sergeant-at-arms telephoned Albany County sheriff, advising him of the situation, and was informed that Garrison would be received if turned over to the county authorities.

Speaker Smith asked the indulgence of the House to permit the drafting of a resolution committing Garrison to the Albany County penitentiary. Meanwhile, Garrison was detained in the Assembly clerk's room.
